Dodie Kendall QHHT — Cancellation & Rescheduling Policy

Effective Nov 5, 2026

Thank you for choosing a QHHT session with me. Each session reserves a large block of my day just for you, so I ask every client to honor the policy below. It keeps scheduling fair for you and for others waiting for a session.

Deposit

A $50.00 non-refundable deposit is required to reserve your session date.

- Your appointment is not confirmed until the deposit is received.
- The deposit is applied toward your session fee.
- The deposit is non-refundable under all circumstances. It can only be carried over to a rescheduled session as described below.

Cancellation and Rescheduling

You may cancel one time and keep your deposit, as long as you follow these steps:

1. Give at least 7 days' notice. Cancel at least one full week (7 days) before your scheduled appointment.
2. Reschedule within 30 days. Your new session date must fall within 30 days of the date you cancel.
3. If I am booked out. If no openings are available in that 30-day window, you will be scheduled for my next available date.

When you reschedule this way, your $50.00 deposit carries over to your new appointment.

When the Deposit Is Forfeited

Your $50.00 deposit is forfeited, and a new deposit is required to book again, if any of the following happen:

- You cancel with less than 7 days' notice.
- You do not reschedule within 30 days of your cancellation date (or for my next available date, if I am booked out).

- You cancel a second time, including cancelling a rescheduled appointment.
- You do not show up for your appointment.

Quick Reference

Situation	What happens to your $50 deposit
First cancellation, 7+ days' notice, rescheduled within 30 days (or next available)	Carries over to your new date
Cancellation with less than 7 days' notice	Forfeited
Not rescheduled within the 30-day window	Forfeited
Second cancellation	Forfeited
No-show	Forfeited

Client Acknowledgment
